HIGH HONOR.

Belmont Abbey Raised by Pope to Rank of Cathedral Abbey.

Famous Institution Conducted by Benedictines in North Carolina.

Ceremonies Surpass Any That Have Taken Place in the South.

FIRST IN WESTERN HEMISPHERE

With ceremonies surpassing in magnificence and impressiveness any ecclesiastical event that has ever taken place in the South, the Catholic Abbey in the little town of Belmont, extraordinary privileges and raised to the dignity of a Cathedral Abbey. It is the first "Abbatia Nullius" in the Western Hemisphere. At the head of the large number of prominent Catholic clergy who took part in the solemn ceremonies were the Most Rev. Monsignor Diomedes Falconio, the Apostolic Delegate, the official representative of Pope Pius X., and who promulgated the mandate of the Pope conferring this highest honor on Belmont Abbey. Bishop Leo Hald, Vicar Apostolic of North Carolina and Abbot of Belmont Abbey, was also a most important figure, second only to the Apostolic Delegate.

By erecting Belmont Abbey into a Cathedral Abbey, technically known in the church as an "Abbatia Nullius," Pope Pius X. has conferred the highest honor or dignity possible. The Abbey has complete and independent jurisdiction in all ecclesiastical matters in the eight adjacent counties, while retaining the administration of the entire State of North Carolina until in the course of affairs dioceses shall be established. This may not come in this generation.

The Papal bull, dated June 13, 1910, confers upon the Abbot of Belmont extraordinary privileges and makes the Abbey church equal in right and power to any Cathedral in the land. There is no Cathedral Abbey in the United States or in North America outside of Belmont and probably there will be none, as all other Benedictine Abbeys exist in canonical organized dioceses, which could not be dismembered.

Belmont Abbey was founded in 1876, under far from encouraging conditions. The South had not recovered from the ravages of the civil war, and the Catholic church had few friends in that section and especially in North Carolina. Two propositions were placed before the Chapter of St. Vincent's, the Benedictine Archabbey of Beatty, Pa., in 1876. One was a Western university, very promising, with a liberal guarantee, and the other a plantation or wilderness in the woods of North Carolina. The plantation was a gift to Vicar Apostolic Gibbons (now Cardinal and Archbishop of Baltimore) from the Rev. Jeremiah O'Connell. To the great amazement of all the South the proposition was accepted, and a band of Benedictines was sent immediately to found a monastery on the site known as Caldwell's Place, in Gaston county.

The monks dwelt in a log cabin, built a frame chapel, and a small brick college and began at once the task of instructing the Catholic boys of the South. The attendance at first was small and the work of sustaining the college was most difficult, but by "work and prayer," the Benedictine motto, they succeeded in time.

The Southern Benedictine missions of Richmond and Savannah were made independent in 1884, and Belmont Abbey was made their mother house, Pope Leo XIII. giving the monastery its official title. This was a great honor to so hopeless and indigent an abbey, which would not at that time claim a single priest as its own and could show only bare possibilities of ever sending forth home instructed priests.

In the history of Belmont Abbey important events followed in rapid succession. The college was enlarged in 1889; the forest gave place to fertile plantations under the diligent laboring hands of the lay brother; stables, barns and other outbuildings were erected, modern improvements installed in both college and monastery, and everything showed progress. In August, 1890, Bishop Hald was elected President by the annual chapter of the Caspense Congregation. He held the office for two terms, but owing to the many important duties laid upon the Bishop-Abbot he was forced to decline a third nomination. The next important happenings in the abbey's life were the laying of the cornerstone of the new Abbey church on St. Patrick's day, 1892, and then the dedication on St. Leo's day, 1894, by Cardinal Gibbons. Many Bishops, Abbots and priests from every part of the country were present to witness the dedication ceremonies. The Abbey church is a beautiful specimen of Gothic architecture, built of brick and granite, trimming. The cost of erecting the edifice, aside from the labor of the monks themselves, approaches closely upon $40,000. In the following year the monastery was again enlarged and place made for the accommodation of more students in the college. These and many minor improvements placed Belmont Abbey among the first of monastic institutions in the South. A beautiful reproduction of the Grotto of Lourdes was built in 1890 and with all the pomp and ceremony of the Catholic church dedicated the following year.

Fire destroyed two-thirds of the college in 1900, but the monastery was saved. Through generous aid received from all parts of the country, including liberal contributions from Protestants, a new and more beautiful college quickly sprang up from the ashes of the old.

It is indeed a wonderful transformation that twenty-five years have made; from a log cabin in the wilderness to the handsome buildings which now grace the site of Belmont Abbey. How eloquently this speaks of the wonderful progress made by the promoter of Catholic instruction in the "Land of the Sky."

YANKEE

Story Heard by Dan Scanlon While Touring Abroad.

Dan Scanlon, the genial head of the Scanlon Coal Company, who has made many trips across the ocean, relates the following story which he overheard last year, when he was one of the thousands of home-goers to Ireland:

An Englishman was bragging of the speed of English railways to a Yankee traveler seated at his side in one of the carriages of a "fast train" in England. The engine bell was rung in the guard's van as the train neared a station. It suggested to the Yankee an opportunity of taking down his companion a peg or two. "What's that noise?" innocently inquired the Yankee.

"We are approaching a town," said the Englishman. "They have to commence ringing about ten miles before they get to a station, or else the train would run by it before the bell could be heard! Wonderful, isn't it? I suppose they haven't invented bells in America yet?"

"Why, yes," replied the Yankee; "we've got bells, but can't use them on our railroads. We run so 'tarnal fast that the train always keeps ahead of the sound. No use what-ever; the sound never reaches the village till the train gets by."

"Indeed!" exclaimed the Englishman. "Fact," said the Yankee; "had to give up bells. Then we tried steam-whistles, but they wouldn't answer either. I was on a locomotive when the whistle was tried. We were going at a tremendous rate—hurricanes were nowhere. An I had to hold my hair on. We saw a two-horse wagon crossing the track about five miles ahead, and the engineer let the whistle on, screaming like a trooper. It screamed awfully, but it wasn't no use. The next thing I knew I was picking myself out of a pond by the roadside, amid the fragments of the locomotive, dead horses, broken wagon and dead engineer lying beside me. Just then the whistle came along, mixed up with some frightful oaths that I had heard the engineer use when he first saw the horses! Poor fellow! he was dead before his voice got to him. After that we tried lights, but these would travel faster than sound. We got some so powerful that the chickens woke up all along the road when we came by, supposing it to be morning. But the locomotive kept ahead of it still, and was in the darkness, with the lights close on behind it. The inhabitants were against it; they couldn't sleep with so much light in the night time. Finally, we had to station electric telegraphs along the road, with signalmen to telegraph when the train was in sight, and I have heard that some of the fast trains beat the lightning fifteen minutes every forty miles. I don't know," said that is true; the rest I know."

LIBRARY OPENING.

Knights of Columbus Will Celebrate Friday Night.

On next Friday evening the Knights of Columbus will celebrate the formal opening of their library. A choice literary programme has been arranged for the occasion. A book shower will be one of the features of the evening, and every member is requested to bring a book to add to the splendid collection now on hand. Right Rev. Bishop O'Donoghue will be present at the opening, and remarks appropriate to the occasion. After the regular programme is finished refreshments will be served, and a dance will be given for the benefit of the ladies and younger element of the council. One of the largest crowds in the history of the organization is expected to be present.

WEDDING ANNIVERSARY.

Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Burke, of Jeffersonville, entertained last Thursday in honor of their first wedding anniversary. Those present were Messrs. and Mesdames Harry Kerr, P. J. Burke, John Greeley, Charles Miller, Charles McCarthy, P. J. Ross, M. J. O'Loughlin; Mrs. Mary Kelly; Mrs. Annie Ross; Misses Annie Kelly, Mae and Rose Kerr, Ethel Greeley, Catherine McCarthy, Irene Ross, Madeline O'Loughlin, Mary, Margaret and Mary E. Ross; Messrs. Joseph, John and Pat Burke, George Blarford, William Kerr, Charles Doyle, H. O'Connell, James Bertrand and J. P. Ross, William and Joseph Kelly, J. R. and W. J. Burke and W. B. Miller. Vocal and instrumental solos were rendered by Mrs. W. J. Burke, Miss Mary Rose Kerr, Miss Katherine McCarthy and Margaret Ross. A delightful repast was served and many happy returns wished for the young couple.

GIVE UP.

Republicans Willing to Sacrifice Wheeler McGee to Save Rob Bingham.

Sherley and Judge Miller Will Win by Old Time Majority.

Bingham and His Past Efforts to Betray the Democratic Party.

NEVER LOST THE MAIN CHANCE

With the balloting about two weeks off, the election of Swager Sherley to Congress and Judge Miller to the Court of Appeals is assured by an old-line Democratic majority. The Republicans, seeing the hopelessness of electing Judge McGee to Congress, have thrown him overboard and are making a desperate effort to elect Bingham as Appellate Judge. The greatest blow to Bingham's hopes has been the publishing of his political record since his advent into Louisville, showing that he had hardly gotten off the train and checked his baggage before he was looking around for some political berth on any old ticket. It is rumored right now that Bingham is seeking to fool the people and defeat Judge Miller. Bingham has the promise of Republican leaders to be appointed as Judge Miller's successor or either receive the Republican nomination in 1911, when the vacancy will be filled, by election, which will be held for Aldermen, Councilmen and a few other offices. But it looks to the wise that his friends should tip him off that if the people rebuke him in 1910 they would hardly want him in 1911, and that the best he can possibly hope for will be the appointment by the Governor to serve until the regular election.

When Bingham was appointed Mayor by Gov. Beckham and the Bingham & Davies law firm took possession of the city government his first move was to replace Democratic police and firemen with Mugwumps and Republicans, and in fact he did everything in his power to cripple the Democratic party in Louisville and the Democratic leaders to whom he owed his first nomination. One of his first moves was to dismiss Major Pat Ridge, whose straight Democracy was well known, and who as a police official outclasses any of Bingham's so-called "good government" officials. There can be no doubt that from the first day of Bingham's appointment as Mayor his every move and purpose was to betray and wreck the Democratic party, in which he was aided by his partner Davies, as Chairman of the Board of Public Safety, who is now on the stump for the Republican candidates. It was quite a successful time for the enterprising firm of Bingham & Davies, drawing fees to defend the Democrats in the election contests and a joint salary of $5,000 as Mayor and $2,500 as member of the Board of Public Safety.

The Evening Post's greatest worry these days seems to be that some policeman will handle desperate negroes too roughly, and therefore encourages the blacks to fight by stating that the police are guilty of persecution. This is the same hypocritical sheet that defended the ex-convict and pro-vice church, and the large attendance evidenced the widespread sympathy felt for the bereaved parents.

The funeral of Lawrence Wrenn, the little son of Matthew and Elizabeth Wrenn, 1128 Oldham street, took place Thursday afternoon with an interment in St. Louis cemetery. Though only an infant his death is a sad blow to the bereaved parents, who have the sympathy of many friends and neighbors.

St. John's parish mourns the death of two exemplary and devout members, Mrs. Susan A. Crull, wife of James H. Crull, and Mrs. Elizabeth Reinhardt, wife of John Reinhardt, both of whom were called into eternity Saturday morning. Their funerals took place Monday morning, each being attended by large numbers of sorrowing relatives and friends.

The funeral of Prof. Daniel P. Dowd took place Tuesday morning from St. Patrick's church, of which he had for many years been a member. His death was due to heart trouble, from which he had long been a sufferer. Prof. Dowd was born in Ireland in 1860, but came to this country with his parents at the age of fifteen. About seventeen years ago he came to this city, and until becoming ill conducted a successful dancing academy. His wife, who was Miss Mary Morgan, survives him.

The beautiful and impressive devotions known as Forty Hours' prayer will be held next in this city at St. Philip Neri's church, Floyd and Woodbine, beginning at the high mass tomorrow morning and concluding Tuesday, Rev. Father Oscar Ackermann, D. C. L., will conduct the services and will have the assistance of a number of the local clergy. As this will be the last week in the Rosary month it is expected the church will be thronged at all the services. Sermons will be preached each evening.

ceremony will be performed by the Rev. Father Louis Ohle. Following the church ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Mayer will be the hosts to friends at a wedding breakfast to be given at their home. From 4 o'clock in the afternoon until 10 at night a reception will be held at the Catholic Woman's Club, for which 100 invitations have been issued. Mr. and Mrs. Mayer have seven children living. They are William C. Mayer, Mrs. Carrie Dressel, Mrs. Anna Heidler, Mrs. Mary McGarron, Mrs. Clara Valla, Joseph B. Mayer, of Los Angeles, Cal., and Miss Ella Mayer. They also have eighteen grandchildren.

ILLUMINATION

At New Haven in Honor of Bishop's First Visit.

The Catholics of New Haven and their friends made an effort to honor the Right Rev. Denis O'Donoghue, Bishop of Louisville, upon his arrival there last week upon his first visit to Father Hogarty and St. Catherine's congregation. Main street from the railroad was illuminated, on either side of the street being stretched rows of Japanese lanterns. Many houses along the way were illuminated and the windows decorated, and a large number of electric lights were put in for the occasion. The Bishop was met at the depot, where he was greeted by a great throng, which formed in procession and escorted him to the church rectory. On Sunday morning the Bishop administered the sacrament of confirmation to a large class and preached an eloquent and forceful sermon at the high mass, which was celebrated by Rev. Father Hogarty, assisted by a number of visiting priests.

SUCCESS

Early Assured For Reception of Hon. Joseph Devlin.

When the Kentucky Irish American can press Thursday night success was assured for the reception of Hon. Joseph Devlin, who is in this country in the interest of the Irish cause. Phenomenal work was done during the first part of the week by P. H. Callahan and his assistants, who left nothing undone that would arouse interest in the reception. Last Sunday night a large and enthusiastic meeting was held at the Knights of Columbus hall on Fourth avenue, attended by the representative Irishmen of the city. Judge Matt O'Doherty presided, and spirited addresses were made by Secretary P. H. Callahan, Rev. James P. Cronin, Rev. Daniel O'Sullivan, Rev. Patrick Walsh, Edward J. McDermott, Merritt O'Neal, Clem Higgins, Rev. Martin O'Connor, Rev. J. J. Fitzgerald, Robert J. Hagan, Rev. J. A. O'Grady, Rev. Thomas White, Thomas Walsh, Thomas B. Leahy, James Greene, Martin Cusick, Dr. W. B. Doeherty and others.

The announcement that Bishop O'Donoghue would present Mr. Devlin was received with applause, and Mr. McDermott announced that later the invitations would be issued and the Vice Presidents selected. Each of the different committees met and the reports from all were most satisfactory.

RECENT DEATHS.

Monday morning the funeral of Mary Oden, the fifteen-year-old daughter of John and Joseph Oden, 24 Ramoth street, took place from St. Vincent's parish church, and the large attendance evidenced the widespread sympathy felt for the bereaved parents.

The funeral of Lawrence Wrenn, the little son of Matthew and Elizabeth Wrenn, 1128 Oldham street, took place Thursday afternoon with an interment in St. Louis cemetery. Though only an infant his death is a sad blow to the bereaved parents, who have the sympathy of many friends and neighbors.

SOCIAL STUDY

Advocated by the Rev. Charles D. Plater, S. J., of England.

Widely Known Author of Catholic Social Work in Germany.

What Is Wanted of Catholic Clergy, Workmen and Women.

TO BE A CATHOLIC IS GREAT

The Rev. Charles D. Plater, S. J., of St. Beuno's, England, has written a timely article on "Social Study," which is worth careful reading. Father Plater is widely and favorably known, and his writings have been commended. In part Father Plater says:

The word "study" may possibly alarm my readers, and their alarm may be increased when the word "social" is prefixed to it. They will picture a formidable array of Blue Books, or a row of the stodgy volumes on sociology which pour almost daily from the press. "We have no time and no inclination for social study," they will protest. "We have our work to do all day, and our few spare hours are needed for rest and relaxation. Let the experts find out the social problem amongst themselves and leave us in peace."

As to the Pope's view of the matter there can be no doubt. "The social question," says the present Pontiff, "deserves to have all the Catholic forces applied to it with the greatest energy and constancy." This involves study, and study not only by the experts and leaders, but by the rank and file. Catholics in all the various conditions of life must learn to take an intelligent interest in the social question. Otherwise their "energy and constancy" will be aimless and even harmful. All can and ought to contribute to what I may call the corporate Catholic social experience. The priest and the layman, the worker and the student, rich and poor, all can help to throw light on this most difficult of problems. "It is for Catholics to take the initiative in all true social progress, to show themselves the steadfast defenders and enlightened counselors of the weak and defenseless, to be the champions of the eternal principles of justice and Christian civilization." So wrote Leo XIII. To the same conclusion we are driven by the principles of our religion. To be a Catholic is something very great, and splendid, and responsible. It is not a mere name to be worn lightly. It involves a new way of life. We can not take our standard from the people about us, for we have divine standards of our own. And we are "standard bearers" in every sense of the term, for "the charity of Christ urges us" not only to school ourselves in the very best and most effective methods, and it should prevent our being content with that slipshod and indiscriminate charity which in these days may do more harm than good. If we really love the poor for Christ's sake, we shall take pains to relieve them effectively; and to relieve them effectively involves careful study. It is easy to toss half-crowns to the poor, supposing we have the half-crowns. It is easy, but it is futile. If our charity takes no other form, several very terrible things will happen. In the first place, we shall find that our poor are being drawn away from us, and give it a Catholic color. In the second place mere indolent philanthropy will but increase the appalling number of our own destitute. Anyone who knows the legions of "submerged" Catholics must feel that the problem can not be solved by indiscriminate alms-giving. We have got to build these people up, and to do so we must begin by a concerted study of their conditions.

At present we are half-strangled by the dead weight of our disorganized poor. The spectacle of their misery should stir us to businesslike action, based on careful study. That may do something to stop the leakage which is due largely to economic pressure. Our charity will be none the less meritorious for being enlightened.

Our faith provides us with sound principles of social reform. It provides us with the highest of motives, and with supernatural helps of which other social reformers feel the lack. But it does not provide us with ready-made methods of giving effect to our charity. This demands study. We should take pains to equip ourselves with the very best scientific knowledge, and to attack the problem at its very root. Let it again be repeated that this is a matter for us all to take to heart. Both in social study and in social action we have, each of us, our work to do.

When the successor of Sir John Knill, the Catholic Mayor of London, was elected, the heckler started a new subject, for when Sir Vesey Strong stepped forward, Sir Robert Rogers, one of the liverymen, instantly demanded to know whether he would attend St. Paul Cathedral on all great occasions and public functions, this of course being a reference to Sir John Knill's custom as a good Catholic of sending a deputy to such functions. Sir Vesey, being a Protestant, of course replied in the affirmative. But this was not enough for the bigot, who endeavored to cast a cloud over the memory of the outgoing Lord Mayor, by stating his adherence to his faith had given grave offense to the citizens of London, which is certainly an untruth. He then went on to ask if the new Lord Mayor, in case he was elected, would agree to attend no other place of worship than a Protestant one. "Certainly not," came the firm and decided answer, which was received with loud applause. Sir Vesey added that occasion might easily arise, as the death of a foreign sovereign, etc., when it would be his duty and his desire to attend other services than a church of England one, and added that the Lord Mayor should be the servant of all and exclude none. "I will attend any service," he concluded, "from a Roman Catholic Cathedral to a Salvation Army barracks." The same question was put by the same interlocutor to the alternative candidate, Sir Thomas Corby, who also declined to give any pledge not to attend other places of worship, adding, "There is no bigotry with me." Eventually Sir Thomas Vesey Strong was declared Lord Mayor elect. It will be a source of gratification to many to see the first attempt to revive old disabilities and sectarian hatred crushed by two broad-minded members of the corporation of London.

The following, which will be of interest to Louisville Catholics, is taken from one of our last week's Irish exchanges:

At 8 o'clock on Sunday morning last, in the Convent chapel at Cavan, Most Rev. Dr. Finegan, Lord Bishop of Kilmore, ordained to the priesthood Rev. Philip Brady (son of Mrs. Philip Brady, of Ballyjamesduff, and brother to the late Rev. A. E. Brady, of Louisville, Ky.), and Rev. John Kelly (son of Mr. F. Kelly, Maryborough, Queen's county). His Lordship was assisted by Very Rev. J. Judge and Rev. P. J. J. Smith, of Cavan, master of ceremonies. Rev. Father Gorry of the Carlow Cathedral, and Rev. T. Donohoe were also present. The "Veni Creator" and music incidental to the ceremonies was rendered by the Sisters of Poor Clare, who subsequently entertained the clergymen and friends. The young clergymen were students in Carlow College and class fellows of Rev. J. J. Smith and Rev. T. Donohoe. Father Brady will leave in a few days for the diocese of Louisville, Ky., where his uncle, Rev. A. J. Brady, has been for the past thirty-five years. Father Kelly will minister in the diocese of Kildare and Leighlin. The young priests celebrated their first mass in the Convent chapel on Monday.

Henry D. Wulf, seventy years of age, a veteran of the civil war and a highly esteemed resident of this city, died suddenly Tuesday morning at his home, 674 Jansing avenue, from an attack of acute indigestion. Death came before medical aid arrived. Mr. Wulf was born in Louisville and lived the greater part of his life in this city. At the outbreak of the civil war he joined the ranks of the Federals and took up the cause of the Union. Shortly after the close of the conflict Mr. Wulf came back to Louisville, where he engaged in the trunk manufacturing business. Six years ago he retired. Besides his wife he survived by five children, John Wulf, T. Wulf, Robert Wulf, Mrs. Henry Klein and Mrs. William Kachler. The funeral took place Thursday morning from Holy Cross church, Rev. Father Sheridan officiating at the solemn obsequies.

One of the prettiest of the October weddings was solemnized Wednesday morning at St. George's church, when Miss Margaret C. Casey became the bride of Francis J. Ryan, the Rev. Father Justa, O. P., celebrating the nuptial mass and performing the ceremony. The bride is the sister of Mrs. Patrick J. Welsh and a most estimable lady. Mr. Ryan is well known in business circles, being associated with the W. A. Thompson Grain Company. After a wedding breakfast at the residence of the bride's sister the couple left for a honeymoon trip to the Northern cities, and upon their return will go to housekeeping at 1418 Bayless avenue.

"I will attend any service," he concluded, "from a Roman Catholic Cathedral to a Salvation Army barracks." The same question was put by the same interlocutor to the alternative candidate, Sir Thomas Corby, who also declined to give any pledge not to attend other places of worship, adding, "There is no bigotry with me." Eventually Sir Thomas Vesey Strong was declared Lord Mayor elect. It will be a source of gratification to many to see the first attempt to revive old disabilities and sectarian hatred crushed by two broad-minded members of the corporation of London.

When the successor of Sir John Knill, the Catholic Mayor of London, was elected, the heckler started a new subject, for when Sir Vesey Strong stepped forward, Sir Robert Rogers, one of the liverymen, instantly demanded to know whether he would attend St. Paul Cathedral on all great occasions and public functions, this of course being a reference to Sir John Knill's custom as a good Catholic of sending a deputy to such functions. Sir Vesey, being a Protestant, of course replied in the affirmative. But this was not enough for the bigot, who endeavored to cast a cloud over the memory of the outgoing Lord Mayor, by stating his adherence to his faith had given grave offense to the citizens of London, which is certainly an untruth. He then went on to ask if the new Lord Mayor, in case he was elected, would agree to attend no other place of worship than a Protestant one. "Certainly not," came the firm and decided answer, which was received with loud applause. Sir Vesey added that occasion might easily arise, as the death of a foreign sovereign, etc., when it would be his duty and his desire to attend other services than a church of England one, and added that the Lord Mayor should be the servant of all and exclude none. SWAGAR SHERLEY,
For Congress.

SHACKLEFORD MILLER,
For Appellate Judge

BINGHAM'S FREEDOM.

The Post, speaking for Bob Bingham, candidate for the Appellate bench, admits that that gentleman knowingly profited through fraud, violence and illegal voting, but "he stands today a free man—free from any responsibility for complicity in the crime, free from any refusal to see the right or follow it, free from that prejudice, judicial or personal, that binds a man to justice in a case where he has a personal or party interest." While there may be some semblance of truth in what the Post says, it is nevertheless true that Bingham never sought "freedom" while he could draw a salary to which the Republicans said he was not entitled. Such is not the man for the Kentucky Court of Appeals, which must in the future, as in the past, be constituted of the best judicial minds in the State.

PORTUGAL.

There is one big, black spot in the news of the revolution in Portugal that the Christian world will not overlook, and that is the story of the intolerance and persecution that marked the beginning of the new regime. Commenting upon this the Chicago American truthfully says: "A true republic, whether it be in Portugal, in Switzerland or in America, tolerates and encourages with non-interference all religious beliefs, while permitting national recognition and indorsement of no especial religion. Religious bodies or individuals in Portugal, as long as they pay their own expenses, as long as they are not levying taxes on the people, or exercising government powers, have absolute rights and privileges, and should be guaranteed safety and government protection, the same as any other body of citizens. It is outrageous that monks, or nuns, should be deprived of property rightfully theirs. Brutalities in the past, inflicted by a monarchy and a vile system of taxation, do not excuse savage retaliation against the innocent and helpless in the present. The duty of Portugal, as fast as may be, is to re-establish law and order, to protect life, and above all to enforce respect for sincere religious convictions of whatever nature." There was no excuse whatever for the attacks upon priests and nuns, who were all peaceful non-combatants. Such attacks disgrace those concerned and alienate sympathy from any cause.

GETTING WORRIED.

The progress of the Catholic church is certainly causing the editor of the Baptist World many sleepless nights, according to the following editorial, which is published in this week's issue: "Romanism is putting forth Herculean efforts to make up in the Protestant countries its loss in Catholic countries. Curiously enough it is having success in its schemes in this direction. The Catholic party holds the balance of power in the German Reichstag and has played politics with commensurate skill. In England the church of England seems headed for annihilation by the High Church route. The same thing is true of the Episcopal church in the United States. If things go on as they are now, Rome will soon have the practical addition of these large bodies of Protestants who have grown tired of being Protestants. But that is by no means all the peril in America. A steady stream of Catholic immigrants is pouring into our large cities. Today the Catholics dominate every American city of a quarter of a million of inhabitants and many of the smaller ones. The Catholic population is in the majority in Boston, New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore, Buffalo, Cincinnati, Cleveland, Pittsburgh, Chicago, St. Louis, San Francisco, New Orleans, etc. Louisville is a Protestant city, but it is currently reported that a majority of all the city officials are Catholics.

The cities where the Catholics are supreme are the worst governed cities in America. They are just the ones where lawlessness is rampant, where graft flourishes, where the people have their rights trampled under foot. If Catholicism is so much superior to Protestantism the cities of the country form a good test for comparison. It is said that every great daily in America is more or less under Catholic control or in fear of the Catholic power. A recent writer has said that there are three parties in America, the Democratic, the Republican and the Catholic. The Catholic holds the balance of power and uses it mercilessly. The aggressiveness of Catholicism in this country is seen in the organization called Knights of Columbus. This is a social organization in the interests of Catholicism. In Kentucky this Catholic club has secured Columbus day as a legal holiday. It is a day now when all the schools close and the Catholics hold a jubilee. The Catholics are in earnest in their purpose to get the reins of power in the United States. They are united, aggressive and persistent. They have the large cities. Will they get the country? It lies with the country.

Automobile speeders who injure people are never drunk. Not they. Only sober people violate the speed laws. That's what the daily press say about the crowd that skidded into the water wagon Tuesday night and knocked from his seat and seriously injured the driver. These joy riders, one and all, should be arrested and sent to the Workhouse. Then there would be less loss of life and fewer "accidents" in Louisville.

Nat Cureton is a good Republican, but his efforts in behalf of Robert W. Bingham are most certainly wasted. Nat's friends can't understand why he supports the cause of a man for the Appellate bench who possesses principles that endure only when he seeks political preferment. Those who know him will not believe that Senator Cureton wants Bingham elected.

The appointment of Justice Edward Douglas White to be Chief Justice of the United States Supreme Court would be in line with precedent and give universal satisfaction. Politics should not enter into consideration for this high and responsible position.

Judge Harris, Helm Bruce and Edmund Trabue, all former Democrats, are now for Bingham. You may ask why. They are corporation lawyers and know their man. Judges without political principles also lack judicial principle.

Louisville will witness two eclipses during November. One will be a partial eclipse of the moon and the other the total eclipse of J. Wheeler McGee and Robert W. Bingham.

The Iowa Ladies' Auxiliary State convention went on record commending the Irish Parliamentary party and John Redmond.

SOCIETY.

J. P. Sullivan, of the Highlands, is in New Orleans.

Mrs. John McAttee spent last week with Mrs. C. R. Long at Pewee Valley.

Miss Lucy Fitzgerald was this week in Frankfort, visiting her mother.

Mrs. William McFadden visited in Shelbyville last week, the guest of Mrs. Dan O'Leary.

C. J. O'Connor and wife have returned from a pleasant sojourn at West Baden Springs.

Mrs. James Kelly has gone to West Point for a visit of several weeks with Mrs. Lewis Dink.

Mrs. Charles Wuersch gave a kitchen shower Monday afternoon in honor of Miss Rita Keaney.

James P. Barry, with the Pennsylvania Railroad Company, is now enjoying his annual vacation.

Miss Margaret Donahue was hostess to her church club Wednesday evening at her home in Portland.

Mrs. William Wallace, of Lebanon Junction, has been visiting here, the guest of her mother, Mrs. Mary Boyle.

Miss Mildred Maloney, of Clifton, had as her guest last week Miss Eleanor McCaffrey and Master Vernon McCaffrey.

Miss Marie Dooley, of Brandenburg, has been spending a week here as the guest of Miss Carolyn Sullivan in Parkland.

Misses Dollie, Lucille and Virgie Murray, of Latonia, have been visiting in Clifton, the guests of Misses Minnie and Anna Belle Murray.

Miss Mary McKenna, of Fairfield, has been enjoying a delightful visit here, being the guest of the Misses Henry, 652 South Floyd street.

Thomas Muldoon, who has been confined to his home with a bad attack of pneumonia poisoning, has recovered sufficiently to be able to go out.

Misses Lela and Essie Swearingen, who were here to visit relatives and attend the Brower-Hunter wedding, have returned to their home at Mt. Washington.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Bauer announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Florence A. Bauer, to Ben A. Traut. The wedding will take place in November.

The wedding of Miss Rita Raphael Keane and Mr. George Meikel Wilson, of Memphis, Tenn., will take place Monday morning, October 24, at 8 o'clock, at St. Louis Bertrand church.

Mr. and Mrs. Sylvester Rapier, of New Haven, who were here to attend the Knights of Columbus banquet and attend the horse show, were the guests of Mrs. Samuel J. Dant for several days before returning home.

Maurice Schupp, who has been visiting his mother, Mrs. Kate Schupp, 428 East Gray street, and other relatives, left yesterday for Cincinnati, where he has been engaged in business for the past five years.

Gregg Powell and wife, who was Miss Maggie Sullivan, left Thursday for Los Angeles, where they may make their future home. Mr. Powell has had several fine offers to locate there, and these he will consider upon his arrival in California.

Miss Aileen Murphy, of Germantown, Pa., will arrive November 1 to spend the winter the guest of Mrs. Lawrence Richardson. Miss Murphy, who is much admired here during her frequent visits to Louisville, will be numbered among the season's debutantes.

Miss Grace Pfanz was hostess of her dancing club with the following present: Misses Marie Gibbs, Elizabeth Neale, Whilomena Ulrich, Ruth Fisher, Flora Recktenwald, Carrie Ross; Messrs. James and Harry Gleason, Carl Fisher, Jesse DeGraw, Arthur Hoerster, Read Werners, Bernard Schlemmer and John Seully.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Kelly and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Knier have returned from a joint wedding trip to Chicago, following a double wedding, in which the two brides were the Misses Louie and Katherine Herberich, of Jeffersonville, and both couples have gone to house-keeping in this city.

The wedding of Miss Lillian Brower and Hubert H. Hunter, a pretty home affair, took place Wednesday evening at the residence of the bride's parents, Twenty-eighth and Chestnut streets, in the presence of a large assemblage of relatives and friends. A reception followed the ceremony, when the bride and groom were showered with congratulations.

Cards have been issued announcing the approaching marriage of Miss Rosa Shea, of Frankfort avenue, and Capt. Thomas Maher, ex-Chief of Detectives, which will be solemnized at St. Francis of Rome church in Clifton on Wednesday, November 9. The ceremony will be performed by the Rev. Father Thomas W. White, and will be witnessed by a large gathering of friends of the contracting parties.

GETS PATRON'S RELIC.

A relic of St. Gall was presented St. Gall's church in Milwaukee by Archbishop Messmer Sunday evening. The relic, a portion of a bone, was accepted by the pastor, Rev. Joseph O'Keefe. The bone of the sainted Irish missionary, whose greatest labors were for the conversion of Switzerland, was presented Archbishop Messmer by the Bishop of St. Gall's, Switzerland, during the Milwaukee prelate's sojourn in his native country this summer, to bring back to the Milwaukee church of which St. Gall is patron. Archbishop Messmer purchased a beautifully mounted reliquary for the relic, which has been placed on the pedestal of the beautiful statue of St. Gall which adorns the interior of the church.

KEPT BUSY.

Were Delegates of Central Committee, C. K. of A.

President McCarthy and the delegates to the Central Committee, C. K. of A., were kept busy at the regular monthly meeting on Friday night of last week. The Knights were pleased to learn that Delegate Matt Schlaug had almost recovered from his recent injury, and the good news imparted by Gen. Michael Reichert elicited hearty applause. The deaths of P. Gus Kane and Charles J. Desse were announced and the officers were instructed to prepare appropriate memorials to be sent to their families. Invitations were accepted to the Sisters of Mercy bazaar and to the Devlin reception. Patrick Holley and Joseph McGinn reviewed the work of the order and the adversities overcome, and declared the Catholic Knights the safest society now in existence. Their statements were fully borne out by John Kinney, of Jeffersonville, who fully explained the rates and options now being offered. His statements received close attention and made clear the different policies now offered old and new members. State Secretary Meenan, Newton G. Rogers, Harry Veeneman and others contributed to the interest of the meeting. Messrs. Reichert and McCarthy stated that the lists of branch deputies would be made known as soon as approved by the Supreme President. At the November meeting plans will be outlined for a winter entertainment.

GRAND ARMY CHIEF.

John E. Gilman, soldier, poet, orator and public official, who was elected Commander-in-Chief of the Grand Army of the Republic at the recent encampment at Atlantic City, was born in Boston sixty-six years ago, and is a faithful attendant of St. Joseph's church, Rosbury. Except for the time of his military service, during which he lost his right arm, which was shattered by a shell at the battle of Gettysburg, when he was only eighteen years old, he has lived in Boston all his life. Commander Gilman is an Uncle Sam's boy of the right kind.

EXPIRED SUDDENLY.

While sitting in her chair at her home, 223 Rand avenue, Lexington, last Friday morning about 11:30 o'clock, and apparently in good health, Mrs. Ann Murphy, aged seventy-two, widow of Daniel Murphy, fell back in the arms of her daughter and suddenly expired. Death was due to apoplexy. Mrs. Murphy, who was an excellent woman and highly esteemed by her friends and neighbors, is survived by six children, all grown. They are Mrs. Dolan, Mrs. A. R. Murphy, Daniel, Thomas, John and Owen Murphy.

UNIONTOWN.

The most successful mission ever known in Uniontown was conducted this week in St. Agnes' church by the Dominican Fathers from St. Louis Bertrand's Convent, this city. Tomorrow morning the children will receive their first holy communion, and on Monday the Right Rev. Bishop O'Donoghue will administer the sacrament of confirmation. This is the first mission conducted by the Dominican mission house in charge of the Rev. J. B. O'Connor, O. F. M., with headquarters in this city.

FANCY DRESS BALL.

The Columbia Athletic Club, composed of a number of the leading young men of that part of the city known as Germantown, announces a fancy dress ball for the members and their friends on Monday night, November 7, at Germania Hall, First and Jefferson streets. William Abel heads the committee, which promises an evening of "real pleasure for all who accept the invitation to attend. The music will be by one of the best union orchestras in the city.

WELCOME THEIR BISHOP.

Rev. Father Edward J. Lynch and the Catholics of Henderson will have a cordial welcome tomorrow for their Bishop, Right Rev. Denis O'Donoghue, who will confirm a large class at Holy Name church. This is the Bishop's first official visit to that city, and every arrangement fitting to the occasion has been made. Bishop O'Donoghue has many visits to make and will be absent from the city the most of the time for several weeks to come.

CHARITY EUCHRE.

Several well known ladies will conduct a charity euchre next Thursday afternoon and night in the school hall at 1411 West Broadway, the proceeds to be used for a most worthy cause. A number of handsome prizes have been secured, but for those who will not play a nice supper will be provided. The games will be called at 2:30 and 8 o'clock, and will be so conducted as to furnish real enjoyment for the players.

NEW ALBANY.

The attendance at the parochial schools connected with St. Mary's and Holy Trinity churches in New Albany is larger this year than ever before, notwithstanding the fact that a number of the pupils have made their first communion and have been confirmed and are attending the public schools.

HEAVY SNOW.

Snow was reported from all parts of Colorado Wednesday. In the mountain passes above Tolland snow from eight to ten feet deep was reported and trains were blocked. In Denver the fall was light.

COUNTY BOARD.

Convention and Election of Officers For Two Years.

The county convention of the Ancient Order of Hibernians of Louisville and Jefferson county has been called by President P. J. Welsh for tomorrow afternoon at Red Men's Hall, Nineteenth and

P. J. WELSH,
Who Retires as County President.

Portland, at 2 o'clock. This will be a most important meeting, as officers are to be elected to serve for the next two years, and therefore every delegate and alternate should attend. The members of the order at large are also invited to be there, as Division 3 will be held and will entertain in a most agreeable manner. Much interest will center in the election of a successor to County President Welsh, who declines to serve another term. He has made a most satisfactory executive and the order has prospered under his administration, but he finds it impossible to devote the time necessary to the office. President Welsh is grateful for the many kind expressions and assurances tendered him. All the divisions will submit their reports, which will show the exact standing of the Ancient Order. A number of able speakers have been invited and will follow the social session that will follow the adjournment of the convention. State Secretary William Connelly will represent the State Board.

ENDING LIFE'S BATTLE.

His health shattered, following a struggle of fifty-five years in an attempt to free Ireland from the rule of Great Britain, O'Donovan Rossa is critically ill in his home at New Brighton, N. J. Rossa, over eighty years old, is broken under a strain which had its inception during the years he was confined in jail in England. Such was the report on Wednesday, when he had sunk into unconsciousness and his death was hourly expected.

WILL MAKE GOOD.

John J. Garrity, the new manager of the Masonic Theater, has made a large list of friends since his arrival, and upon all sides it is predicted he will make good in Louisville. He expresses himself pleased with the outlook in Louisville, and says that the Masonic will have as good a line of attractions as any first-class theater in the country.

MRS. CAFFEY'S FINE GIFT.

Mrs. J. J. Caffrey, just home from an extended European trip, last week presented Rev. Father Ackerman with a handsome and costly altar cloth for St. Philip Neri's church. This exquisite altar drape is made of the richest material and embroidered in threads of pure gold. It was blessed especially for St. Philip Neri's by Pope Pius X.

JEFFERSONVILLE.

Martin Burke, a well known resident of Jeffersonville, left last Sunday for Rochester, Minn., where he underwent an operation. Mr. Burke has been a sufferer for some time from severe stomach trouble, and his physicians advised the operation. He was accompanied by his sister, Miss Margaret Burke, and his brother, John Burke.

HURT BY FALL.

Mrs. John Gorman, residing at 3832 Grand boulevard, fell from a chair at her home, injuring her right leg below the knee. At first it was not thought to be serious, but within the past two days the injured limb has developed a condition that is alarming to her friends.

PROGRESSING.

Unity Council, Y. M. C. of New Albany, is making steady progress. The members intend to soon build an addition to their club house and are now saving funds for that purpose. Unity has paid $5,000 in full for its present home and has still a snug sum in its treasury.

CORRECTION.

In the award of prizes made by the M. S. Moses Clothing Company the name of Raymond Saltmarsh should have appeared first and Nicholas Koertner second. The mistake was one of the kind that frequently happen, but fortunately without injustice being done.

GIVEN GOOD START.

A promising commandery of the Knights of St. John was instituted last week at Richmond, Ind., the initiation work being conducted by Capt. John Huseon, of New Albany. Rev. Father Frank Roell, who is well known in the Falls Cities, was active in organizing the Knights and is one of the charter members.

visions were instituted in Maine.There are eleven divisions of the Ladies' Auxiliary in West Virginia.Maine shows an increase of 613 members since the 1908 convention.Seattle, Wash., has the first division organized from juvenile members.Division 4 of Plainfield, N. J., recently initiated twenty-two candidates.Fifty members will be initiated at Milwaukee on the first Sunday in December.At the county convention held in Denver an increase in membership of 140 was reported.The net proceeds of the Hibernian Irish day reunion at Pittsburgh show
$3,500 on the profit side.Thirty new members were added to the Ladies' Auxiliary at Richmond during the past six months.Division 4 will meet Monday night, when the first report of the county convention will be submitted.A net gain in membership during the past two years is the gratifying report of the Ladies' Auxiliary of Minnesota.New York will have three men appointed to organize military companies, there being now only three in the State.Division 3 wants all its members present tomorrow to entertain the County Board. Cigars and a good time is promised.The Ancient Order is rapidly increasing its membership in Colorado.
Thursday night a large class was initiated at Pueblo.The division at Milwaukee, the largest in the country, will arrange a series of talks to be given on Irish history at its meetings this winter.The division at Pueblo, Col., gave a smoker in honor of State President Feeley just before his departure for the East to take unto himself a bride.The Hibernians of Houston are making great preparations for the reception of Joseph Devlin. Texas will not be backward in helping Ireland's cause.New York Hibernians were greatly pleased when they learned that Rev.
Fathall Wihler, of Batavia, had accepted the office of State Chaplain for another term.Division 4 still holds the lead in membership in Kentucky. This is largely due to the hustling ability of President John Hennessy, who is recognized as one of the best organizers in the order.The Hibernian free night school for poor boys of Irish parentage at Baltimore opened with a large enrollment. All the elementary branches are taught, including bookkeeping, stenography and typewriting.Auxiliary 3 of Minneapolis entertained Mrs. Mary Daly, State President, last week. Following the literary and musical programme refreshments were served. Mrs. Daly was presented American Beauty roses.CUBS' BROKEN MACHINE.The world's series games have opened the eyes of the public to the opinions of the so-called baseball experts, who have been filling the papers and magazines with a lot of guff about the Chicago team's wonderful machine for team work,
etc., and how that great catcher, Johnny Kling, just dared anybody to attempt to steal a base. The two contests show that Philadelphia played a better game and made the Cubs look like amateurs, while all the bases stolen have been off Kling. So much for the opinion of "experts."STINGY GUESTS.The hospitality of the monks in the various hospices of the Alps is deservedly famous. This year the number of guests at the hospice on the Simplan mountain in Switzerland was extraordinarily large. The Fathers do not set a price on their generosity, but travelers are expected to make a small offering before taking leave. This season, after a "who's week of hard work, when the house was crowded every night and many had to sleep in the corridors, the money found in the body of the Prior amounted to the princely sum of nine cents."WON HIS WAY."Charlie, dear," said the young mother, "I have decided on a name for the baby. I shall call her Imogen."
Charlie seemed to be lost in thought for a moment. He didn't like the name, but if he opposed it, his wife was sure to have her own way."That's nice," he said presently.
"My first sweetheart's name was Imogen. She'll take it as a compliment."
"Huh! Well, we'll call her Mary, after my mother," came the quick reply.UNUSUAL SALE*Boys' Suits*$3.48*With 2 Pairs Knicker

tertain County Convention.Division 3, A. O. H., held a fine meeting Monday night, receiving four applications and John Hennessy's transfer card. President P. T.
Sullivan occupied the chair and announced that Bishop O'Donoghue had consented to fill the position of State Chaplain. The Visiting Committee reported all members well.
Lawrence Mackey, representing the Catholic Federation, invited all to the next meeting of that body to meet and hear Bishop O'Donoghue.
Following a generous donation to the Sisters of Mercy bazar John Riley turned into the treasury a handsome sum from the recent excursion.The division voted to entertain the county convention tomorrow afternoon, which will end with a social session and smoker, all the members to serve as a reception committee. President Sullivan announced the coming of Joseph Devlin, and urged upon his hearers the necessity of giving him a welcome to Louisville that will never be forgotten. In the social hour that followed the regular business several spirited addresses were made, and it was voted that all attend the bazar, and also the convention. From Secretary John Hession and Treasurer Dan Dougherty it was learned that Division 3 is now in better financial condition than ever before in its history.LATEST IN STYLES.Everything is to be furred on this season.For street garments the regulation coat sleeve leads in favor.The short skirt dominates even the most elaborate evening gowns.For dressy costumes the three-quarter length sleeve is fashionable.
Wings are decidedly the trimming for the less ornamental type in bats.Striped suitings are the rage, while the surface of most fabrics is rough.Jackets are usually in plaited apron style, though the cascade and one-sided frill varieties are much seen also.The old cashmere and Paisley colorings and designs are used indiscriminately on morning and afternoon dresses.The use of braid as a fabric for fashionable hats is new, and it is particularly effective when combined with velvet.Brocade silks and satins of all kinds are much admired; so are the printed chiffons and the bordered nuns and marquisettes.Double-breasted coats are always popular with girls. Shepherd checks, plaids, tweeds, homespuns, velvet or corduroy make up effectively.Shoulder collars are large and round. They are frequently of hand embroidered batiste or of marine in two different shades, infused with a metal cord ornament.UNCERTAIN.The traveling salesman had looked at Mrs. Dolan's third floor back and found it neat and attractive. "I'll take it for two months," he said, "and always pay as I go. I suppose that will suit you."
"It will not," said Mrs. Dolan firmly. "There's times I'm not in the house when folks goes. They're liable to be called off sudden when I'm out of the way. My boarders pays when they come—or else they

a wound on the outside of the body.
So long as it is done, the wound will not heal. Let a person, when tempted to cough, draw a long breath and hold it. It warms and soothes every air cell, and some-benefit will soon be received from this process. The 'inhaled air acts as an anodyne to the mucous membrane, allaying the desire to cough, and giving the throat and lungs a chance to heal. At the same time a suitable throat lubricant will aid nature in her effort to recuperate.PURELY CATHOLIC TERM.It may not be generally known, notes the Rosary Magazine, that the term "alma mater," which is universally applied to colleges and universities where men receive their scholastic training, is of purely Catholic origin. It had its source at the University of Bonn, and drew its inspiration from the beautifully chiseled statue of the Mother of Christ—known as the Alma Mater—placed over the principal portal of that celebrated seat of learning.WITHIN HEARING.They stood upon the crest of the

There may be other ears around.""Oh, my dear!" Why should you think so, dearest?"Oh, because I have so often heard of mountaineers I thought perhaps there might be some around,

SEEING AHEAD.

Purchase of Land For a Catholic Burial Ground.

For some time past it has been apparent to the authorities of the Catholic church of this city that St. Louis cemetery would have to be enlarged or another burial ground secured. Unable to obtain ground adjoining the present cemetery, Bishop O'Donoghue has purchased the Barr tract, just a short distance beyond, thus providing for Catholic burials for far into the future. The ground purchased is especially adapted for cemetery purposes and will be as beautiful as St. Louis or Cave Hill.

A beautiful main entrance will be erected on Castleview. It will be the form of a large cut stone archway, surmounted by the words, "St. Louis Cemetery." At this entrance will also be erected a large cut stone cottage of Gothic architecture. On the south side, on what is known as the Poplar Level road, will be another entrance, which will be a great convenience for funerals from the southern section of the city, which are now compelled to come in as far as Breckinridge-street. The new cemetery will be in no manner detracted from St. Louis, but will be cared for with even greater attention than in the past. Catholics everywhere will appreciate the foresight and wisdom of the Bishop and his advisers.

RARE TREAT.

P. H. Callahan to Tell of His Visits to Ireland.

There was a fairly well attended meeting of Division 1, A. O. H., at Falls City Hall on Tuesday night. One new member, E. Grant Kilkelly, was received into the order, and several applications were promised. President Walsh occupied the chair and was pleased to announce that there were no sick claims or other bills to be met, and the report of Treasurer Thomas Keenan showed the division to be progressive financially and numerically. Every delegate and alternate was instructed to attend the county convention Sunday afternoon, and President Walsh and Martin Cusick reported that Mr. P. H. Callahan had accepted an invitation to address the meeting of Division 1 on Tuesday, November 15. Mr. Callahan spent the past summer in Ireland, visiting all the cities and towns, and the recital of his experiences and observations will be a rare treat, especially to those who have been long away from the old land and are not aware of the many changes that have taken place. The members of the other divisions will be invited and the Entertainment Committee will provide an abundance of refreshments.

JOHN KEARNS DEAD.

John H. Kearns, a most highly esteemed citizen and well known capitalist, died Monday evening at his home, 1448 South Fourth street, after a long illness of stomach trouble. For many years the deceased resided at Lebanon, but three years ago moved with his family to Louisville. Mr. Kearns had led an active and upright life, and through his fidelity to business and honorable dealing had amassed a large fortune. Besides his wife, eight children, five sons and three daughters, mourn the loss of a husband and father who was ever kind and loving. The children are Dr. Leo Kearns, of this city; the Rev. J. C. Kearns, S. J., of the Jesuit University at St. Louis; James W. Kearns, of Harrisburg, Ill.; George Kearns and William Kearns and the Misses Minnie, Lillian and Katherine Kearns. The funeral took place Thursday morning from St. Louis Bertrand's church, which was thronged with mourning relatives and friends, large numbers of whom were from out in the State. For the bereaved family there is a widespread feeling of sympathy.

BANNER FALL MEETING.

The most successful fall meeting in the history of the local racing association will come to a close this afternoon with the Troquois handicap as the feature race, for a purse of $2,000, and all of the best horses at the track are entered, among them being King's Daughter, Jack Atkin, Countess, Ocean Bound, Round the World and Melisande. The clean racing given by the Jockey Club has won the confidence of the public, and the future of racing in Kentucky is assured.

PORTLAND VS. LOUISVILLE.

Portland and Louisville will meet tomorrow at Portland Park in the last game of the season for both teams, and Capt. Lally's Portland boys are predicting that they will beat the Colonels, something which has not been done by any of the other local clubs. Halla and Schmidt will be Louisville's battery, while Doherty and Schan will represent Portland. Howard Williams and Joe Deeken, of the Portland team, will arrive home tonight from the East, having attended the world's series at Philadelphia and spent a couple of days sight-seeing in New York.

AVENUE THEATER.

"The Millionaire Kid," a drama with music, will be the attraction at the Avenue next week. Raymond Paine, who will be remembered for his work in "The Candy Kid," will be seen in the title role. The play is said to be a good one and will undoubtedly prove popular with the patrons of the Avenue.

MONUMENT

For Irish Statesman and Hero of Two Wars.

A monument to Gen. James Shields, hero of the Mexican and civil wars, to be erected at his grave in Carrollton, Mo., will be ready for unveiling November 12. Gen. Shields was the only Union General that ever defeated the famous Stonewall Jackson. He also had the unique distinction of having had the honor to represent the United States in our National Senate. In the battle of Cerro Gordo he was shot through the lung, and would have been left for dead on the battlefield had it not been for the skillful work of a Mexican surgeon, who saved his life by drawing a silk handkerchief through the wound. The name of Shields, like that of Sheridan, stands high on the muster roll of fame. He was born in that part of Ireland where O'Neill had distinguished himself in the Elizabethan wars--the County Tyrone.

MACAULEY'S.

Macauley's offerings for next week are above the ordinary. For the first half Nat. C. Goodwin will be seen in "The Captain," a new comedy in every way suited to his style and in which the public delights to see him. Lillian Russell in her newest stage hit, "In Search of a Sinner," opens Thursday for four performances. The new comedy is said to fit the airy Lillian like one of her modish gowns.

HOPKINS' THEATER.

The show billed for next week at the Hopkins' Theater is of the highest standard and every vaudeville turn is on the headline order. Every afternoon this popular play house is thronged with pleased ladies and children, and at night almost all seats are occupied by the grown-ups, who greatly appreciate the semi-weekly change of programme, which also includes motion pictures.

MOTION PICTURES.

The Casino and Orpheum will offer several striking moving picture novelties next week. They are heralded as the best yet seen here and will take the audiences over trips they will greatly enjoy. Among the pictures will be several that are ninth-provoking, and in addition the ever popular illustrated songs. There will be the usual changes of programme, and big houses should rule.

ENJOYING VACATION.

Capt. Thomas Cannon, Night Chief of the New Albany police department, has returned from Indianapolis, where he spent a part of his vacation. Capt. Cannon has a wide reputation as a police officer, and the officials of the Hoosier capital entertained him most royally during his short stay.

FATHER KERNAN

Has Narrow Escape From Death Wednesday Evening.

The people of St. Louis Bertrand's parish were greatly alarmed Wednesday evening when they learned of the injury and narrow escape from death of the Rev. Father A. C. Kernan, O. P. Father Kernan had left the convent on South Sixth street to go across the river. The interurban car was crowded and he was compelled to stand on the steps. Just as the car started west from Sixth and Jefferson streets, two men dashed out Sixth street and attempted to get aboard. In their scramble they knocked the priest to the ground and he rolled to within three inches of the tracks. Luckily Conductor Loble saw the accident and signalled Motorman Hull to bring the car to a stop. This was done before any serious harm befell Father Kernan. The force of the fall, however, rendered him unconscious and the crew of the car, with several bystanders, carried him to the office of Dr. Scribner. At first it was believed that his skull was fractured, but an examination showed that this was not the case. He is now resting easily, and it is hoped it will be but a few days until he is fully recovered from his injuries.

IRISH NIGHT.

Mackin Council Responds to Appeal For Old Land.

Mackin Council's meeting room was thronged Monday night when President Kenney took his chair and called for reports from the contesting teams, which resulted in the election of four members and twelve applications. This contest will close November 20 with a big initiation in the afternoon and banquet at night. Announcement was made of the coming and appeal of Hon. Joseph Devlin for the Irish cause, and with-out a dissenting voice Mackin Council contributed $25 to the Irish Parliamentary fund, to be presented at the meeting at Masonic Theater. After the other business had been finished the hundreds present were invited to participate in a smoker, when addresses on the Irish cause and the visit of the Irish envoys were delivered by Camden McAtee, Thomas D. Cline, Joseph E. Hancock, Hon. Samuel L. Robertson, Dr. Michael Casper, Supreme Vice President Robert T. Burke and others. The meeting was one of the most enthusiastic held for some time, and it is almost certain that the 500 mark will be reached before the first of the year. A generous donation was also voted the Sisters of Mercy bazar, which was to be disbursed by President Kenney and a special committee on Y. M. I. night.

HIGH-HANDED.

The high-handed proceedings of General Manager Mitchell and the Kentucky and Indiana Bridge Company in tearing down Mr. Osterman's fence and building tracks to the door while the suit was still pending in court, is being condemned on all sides. The property is at Thirty-first and Chestnut streets and was one member of the General Council states that he voted for the right of way for the K. and I. switch, but did not know that it was through a private residence. The authorities should remember Mr. Mitchell and his company in the future, as no citizen and his home are safe from such unlawful acts. F. H. Savage, attorney for Mr. Osterman, has entered suit for trespass.

NOVELTY DANCE.

The Mackin Social Club will entertain the council and its friends with a novelty dance at the club house next Thursday night. One of the special features will be the old-fashioned barn dance. The hall will be decorated with pumpkins, hay, corn, rakes, hoes, etc., and will remind those present of how the dance halls looked when their ancestors danced years ago. During the evening a genuine old-style quadrille will be danced, and the promoter secured promises much fun throughout. The reception committee will be suitably dressed for this occasion. Several other novelties have been added, which with those mentioned will help to make this a very pleasant evening.

GOES TO ETERNAL REST.

The death of Michael Hines removes a venerable citizen from the community, and from St. Mary Magdalen's parish one of its most active and devoted members. His funeral took place Saturday afternoon with interment in St. Louis cemetery. Mr. Hines was a native of Ireland, but came to this country in 1847, and had spent the greater part of his life in this city. During the civil war he conducted a transfer business here. Twenty-five years ago he retired from business. Mr. Hines is survived by one son, James J. Hines, a member of the firm of A. Brandels & Son, and by one daughter, Miss Anna Hines. His wife died a number of years ago.

MEMORIAL MASS.

Mackin Council's members will attend St. Anthony's church on the morning of November 20, when the annual memorial mass of requiem for deceased members will be celebrated. They will also receive holy communion in a body.

NEGRO CHURCH.

The first church in the West for negro Roman Catholics was established in Kansas City last week. A cross was placed above a cottage, which will be used temporarily. Later $30,000 will be used to fit up a mission. The new church was made possible by a gift of $8,000 by Miss Katherine Drexel, of Philadelphia, Mother Superior of a Catholic order. It will be known as St. Monica's mission and was opened on Sunday.

...NOTICE...

To the Voters of Louisville:

You are asked, regardless of party affiliations, to vote for the issue of bonds for the new hospital at the coming election.

The undersigned commission, composed of two Democrats and two Republicans, will have sole charge of the building and equipment of the hospital, and will receive and disburse all funds derived from the sale of the bonds, if voted.

We pledge our best endeavors toward giving you a modern, up-to-date hospital, which will put Louisville on a par with other cities of her class in the matter of caring for the sick poor, whose welfare has been heretofore sadly neglected, by reason of a hospital building our citizens should be ashamed to be longer responsible for.

Will you help the good cause by your votes and assistance and indicate the same on the coupon below, which should be mailed to Thomas D. Osborne, Room 312 Columbia Building.

JOHN H. LEATHERS, Chairman.
ARTHUR PETER, Vice Chairman.
